

Ballistic Breaching (LE)

This two day course is for sworn law enforcement officers that are looking to utilize shotgun breaching as an emergency entry method. Ballistic breaching can be utilized on tactical operations as well as active shooter emergencies. This course is not just for special operations assigned to a team. Students will be required to perform field exercises under high stress as well as focusing on classroom instruction. The course will cover the following topics:

- Legal cases supporting ballistic breaching
- Types of breaching rounds
- Creating a breaching plan
- Emergency shotgun reloads
- Employing a shotgun breach
- Defeating different locking devices

Graduates of this course will be capable of analyzing an entry point, selecting the appropriate round and implementing a shotgun breach. Graduates of this course can work together as a tactical team or as individuals they can supplement an active shooter response.
